He stated that she demanded money of him, and that his inability to comply with her demand, coupled with the fact that she had become attached to another man, prompted the accusation against him, of which he was entirely innocent.

THE JULY INTEREST.

WALL STREET, FRIDAY, JUNE 26—P. M.

The light infantry movements so suggestive of an opening campaign were continued to-day with slight advantage to the "bull" side of the market, although there is still a reticence and indisposition to engage in any extended operations until levies are organized. To use the figure of the war, this is the "62" and "63" period of the struggle between the opposing forces in the stock market. We have had a "Bull Run" of some months, hence the slowness in appreciating an improved condition.

"WALL STREET," CONSIDERED.

In the sense of its familiar utterance as a locality wherein is congregated the great financial figures of the period, so far as these belong to this country, the stereotyped "heart" in reference to monetary circulation, of this great nation, is bounded geographically on the north by Pine Street, on the south by Beaver, on the east by Pearl Street and on the west by Broadway. Small as is the space comprised within these boundaries a very large portion of it is occupied by the Stock Exchange, which, in virtue of this, exerts, or seems to exert, a controlling influence over the minds of those who rest within its shadow, and whose influence is also extended to many others, dwellers beyond that pale, but who are yet brought into close contact with the members thereof. Singular as it may seem, however, there is a world beyond that geographical limit above described, a world of effort, with its corresponding rewards, far higher than any offered there, and which the denizens of that stunted area either ignore or fail to comprehend. Thus while "bulls" and "bears" fret themselves in eager strife upon the floor of the Stock Exchange, bandying about in fluctuating movement securities, stocks and bonds, and indifferent as to the actual value of which they know very little, and of which the outside world knows and in many cases cares less, and concerning which it may be safely said that it belongs to that class of things "no fellow can find out," the general prosperity of the country, influenced by natural causes almost if not wholly separated from those local springs of action that affect values there, and is advanced or retarded in proportion as man has applied his strength of mind and body in honest endeavor, and Providence blesses his labor. Of course, even here there may be artificial obstructions to the stream of prosperity.

damning it up, as it were, so that the most earnest effort, for want of certain fructifying influences that should come to it—the proper irrigation, as it were, that is abnormally suspended—fails to be remunerative. We are passing out of just such a condition in having escaped from a harassing discussion by Congress of the financial problem, with very little hope while it was pending of a satisfactory solution, as well as in having reached a settlement of the legal tender question, which leaves us precisely where we are, for another year at least, in respect to the limit of that circulation. This possible basis of compromise in the event of other more comprehensive legislation failing, was early pointed out in this column. In this view it is satisfactory to note that received from nearly all sides in regard to this year's crops. Our whole financial structure rests upon our production, and of this cotton and grain form the principal items. Present reports speak in the most favorable terms of both. Cotton, which at one time seemed threatened by heavy frosts and other adverse agencies, is stated by later reports to be remarkably clean and well advanced, in much greater abundance than was at first expected, while grain gives also the most satisfactory promise of a large yield. California alone that of Russia, founding our prosperity as a nation upon two such pillars of production as these, having the rest of the world as customers for food and clothing, the varying fluctuations that occur from day to day in the stock market, as "bull" or "bear" gains ascendancy, sink into the insignificance when rightly viewed, of mere ephemera, having but a transitory influence on general trade, and never surely reflecting its condition. With however, operating in the same market, the outer, who may be inclined to take sides, will understand how necessary it is for him to exercise caution and personal supervision of his interests when seeking or supporting an investment. In the conflict which seems near at hand, although even in these matters one can never venture a prediction, these are facts which will have their bearing in the result, intermediate as well as ultimate.

TWO ANTAGONISTIC FORCES.

THE BEAR LEADER.

is a man of great resources, cool and sagacious, given to keeping his own counsel, never trusting one broker with more than a piece of his confidence, and so distributing it and his dealings around that it is well impossible to place him at any particular time. His followers are many, as are always the followers of men of large wealth, especially when they can give employment and reward to those who serve them. There is

NO "BULL" LEADER EQUALLY PRONOUNCED.

and of the same energy and means as this Bear Major. The old Commodore, who was once so distinguished a leader in this sort of speculative warfare, has been extremely quiet of late, confining himself to the care of his own stocks, thus securing it, as it is said, a tacit trust between himself and his "bear" antithesis. However this may be, it would seem as if the "bull" colors had yet to develop a leader before they can be said to have fairly entered the field for a new campaign. The light skirmishing that has thus far taken place without advantage to either side, except perhaps in a slight increase of interest in the current day's business. This was not so manifest to-day as it was during the past few days.

THE OPERATIONS IN THE STOCK MARKET TO-DAY showed firmness at the opening, and up to about noon showed an advance of $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, principally in Lake Shore (still the most active), Western Union, Wash. Pacific Mail, Northwest, St. Paul common, Ohio and New York Central. At the second board there was an advance of $\frac{1}{4}$ to 1 per cent on the entire list, the principal favorites being Lake Shore, Wash. Pacific Mail, Western Union, Pacific Mail, Northwest common and Erie. Towards the close there was a slight reaction and the market left off $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent lower.

THE PROMISE OF JULY.

Next to the position which the rival speculative interests known as "bull" and "bear" hold here in reference to future prices in the stock market, as well as, although perhaps in a less degree, to the general interest of the country, are the anticipated July disbursements, which, releasing a large amount of money in the way of interest and dividend payments, usually stimulate fresh speculation. The total amount of the outflow of capital may be roughly estimated at between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. The various items which constitute this amount is due and will be paid, calculated at the rate of 3 per cent (being a half yearly payment) may be enumerated as follows:—

Principal.	Amount.
On deposits in New York City Savings Banks to the amount of.	$100,000,000
On deposits in New York City Savings Banks.	100,000,000
Through private bankers.	25,000,000
Central Pacific bonds, about.	35,000,000
Union Pacific securities, about.	25,000,000
On railway bonds, dividends, on railway shares and county securities.	35,000,000
Dividends ranging from 2 1/2 to 12 per cent, on New York City bank capital.	65,000,000
Gold interest on government bonds to the amount of.	$34,000,000
Currency interest on government bonds to the amount of.	65,000,000

Adding to these items the amount of State, county not included in previous enumeration and city bonds, with interest, maturing at the close of the year, a total estimate, is stated at $1,600,000,000, which at 3 per cent, also a low calculation, as many of these securities earn 7 per cent per annum, would give a disbursement of $48,000,000. These estimates are made wholly without reference to possibly defaulting securities, which, if they occurred, would, as is yet to be determined, the items mentioned above being a low calculation of those which are above suspicion. With this promise of fresh capital coming upon the Street, although the larger part of it is due Europe and will be transmitted there, it is not surprising to find still leaning on call at 2 and 3 per cent, notwithstanding the increased activity on the stock exchange. Discounts are more in demand and prime mercantile paper moves at 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 per cent. Although this is not the season for much business of the kind, there is a general feeling of confidence in the market, and it is evident that here at all events the market finds relief in the settlement of the question of the legal tender limit, and that recuperative forces are already at work in commercial circles. The clearing house statement was as follows:—Currency exchanges, $69,978,202; currency balances, $3,749,083; gold exchanges, $6,329,731; gold balances, $699,314. The internal revenue receipts to-day were $438,000.

ranging on extreme quotations between 111 1/2 and 111 3/4, opening at the higher figure and closing at 111 1/2. The market is wholly without interest. The carrying rates were 1 and 2 per cent, and for borrowing 2 per cent and 3 per cent. The operations of the Gold Exchange Bank were as follows:—Gold balances, $1,325,477; currency balances, $1,433,432; gross clearances, $22,405,000. The Assistant Treasurer paid out to-day $40,000 on account of interest and $112,000 in redemption of five-twenty bonds. The customs receipts were $203,000.
